

AI is everywhere. But where can it really make a difference in your work?

Generative AI is rapidly changing how everyday work gets done. Yet effective AI adoption is not simply about learning another AI tool — it is about knowing what AI can do, where to apply it, and how to use it to improve the way we work.

Join us at the final FEON HR Xchange of 2026 for a practical afternoon exploring AI at work.

Through practical sharing, demonstrations and a guided diagnostic exercise, participants will move from understanding the possibilities of AI to identifying real opportunities within their own work where AI can improve productivity, quality and effectiveness.
